Governor Plans No 'Boat Rocking' In Pennsylvania

Status Quo To Be Maintained For Immediate Future It Is Revealed

BUDGET MESSAGE READY ON MONDAY

James Administration Plans No Upsetting Legislation It Is Indicated

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 25.—As the legislature and the state awaited the presentation of Gov. Arthur H. James' budget message Monday night it became known today that the James administration has decided "not to rock the boat" for the next two years.

In effect, Governor James has decided that despite the passage of what he considers bad legislation by the Earle administration, the general welfare of the state would best be served by the maintenance of the status quo.

No Upsetting Legislation
What business and the people in general want now, the governor is said to feel, is the assurance from the state government that they can go ahead with their programs and their ideas confident in the knowledge that they will not be upset by legislative enactments.

Therefore, although the governor feels that certain radical changes should be made in the administrative and tax structure, he will permit them to go over until a more propitious occasion.

The administration will attempt, largely within the governmental structure built up by the Earle administration, to effect economies in government and to lighten the efficiency of administrative departments, with the hopes that through this and with the aid of a business improvement it will be possible later to reduce taxes.

"Go-Ahead" For Business
The governor hopes that business will consider this as a "go-ahead" signal, as it is meant to be, realizing that if the governor's hopes for (Continued On Page Two)

Puerto Rico Will Be Heavily Fortified By U. S. As Naval-Air Base

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Uncle Sam's answer to Chancellor Hitler's declaration that Nazi penetration of South America "is nobody's business but Germany's" will be fortification of Puerto Rico as an impregnable "Hawaii of the East," it was learned today.

The West Indian island possession will be converted into a combined navy and army air and submarine base, bristling with high-powered arms, at the spearpoint of America's defense of the western hemisphere in the Atlantic.

Plans Include
Immediate plans call for:
1. Installation with a minimum of delay of a naval submarine and air base on Isla LaGrande in San Juan harbor.

2. Establishment of an army air base on the island proper with heavy stationary and mobile long-range coast and anti-aircraft artillery.

3. Erection of huge underground gasoline and fuel oil supply tanks.

The major item in the $48,800,000 air and submarine base measure now being rushed through congress calls for initial expenditure of $9,000,000 for the navy's air and submarine base on Island Grande. The site already has been transferred to the navy from the island government.

"A base for patrol planes situated this far eastward in the Caribbean will be of major strategic importance," the navy board headed by Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn reported to President Roosevelt and congress.

Washington Parley To Aid Business Planned

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Administration leaders shortly will invite to the Capital spokesmen for industry, labor and agriculture to discuss ways and means of attaining the $80,000,000,000 yearly national income objective set by President Roosevelt.

This was disclosed today in the wake of declarations by two cabinet members that the government will emphasize recovery rather than reform in its future dealings with business.

Seek To Promote Recovery
Addressing the Des Moines Economic Club last night, Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins promised the nation that the administration is now determined to promote recovery with "all the vigor and power at its command."

Earlier this week, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau assured businessmen they need have no fear of added tax burdens. At the same time, Morgenthau called on congress to eliminate from the federal tax structure all levies that are impeding industrial progress.

Having gone on record with these conciliatory statements, both Hopkins and Morgenthau will hold the doors of their departments wide open to all who seek advice or wish to make suggestions.

Other federal agencies, such as the securities and exchange commission, also are prepared to welcome business leaders.

Hopkins Says Emphasis Has Been Shifted From Reform To Recovery

(International News Service)

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 25.—The maiden speech of Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins as a member of President Roosevelt's cabinet was widely studied today for the promise it held that a new spirit of cooperation among business men, farmers, labor and government may accomplish a return to national prosperity.

Hopkins, in his first declaration of his business philosophy since he became secretary of commerce, spoke last night before the economic club in Des Moines.

Asserting that the Roosevelt administration has shifted its emphasis from reform to recovery,

Hopkins said he was firmly convinced "that if we could find a way to break the log jam of private investment in the field of utilities, railroads and housing, we will have gone a long way towards taking the essential steps to ultimate recovery."

Have Common Purpose
"The government earnestly wishes that these things be accomplished," Hopkins added, "and we ask that labor, the farmer and business men join us—not across but on the same side of the table—to accomplish our common purpose."

Considered significant was the secretary's acknowledgement that he (Continued On Page Two)

President Believes That Peace In Organized Labor Ranks Possible

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25.—President Roosevelt today called upon John L. Lewis and William Green to bring the CIO and A. F. of L. together in a conference designed to restore peace in the ranks of organized labor.

Should Negotiate
Labor, declared the president, "faces a challenge in finding itself divided into two opposing camps" that should be met by the appointment of committees from each camp to "negotiate the terms of peace."

The president addressed identical letters to Green and Lewis from the U. S. S. Houston, somewhere far out in the south Atlantic. They were flown in by special pouch to Miami headquarters and thence relayed to Washington.

"The American people sincerely hope that a constructive negotiated peace with honor may come about between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations within the early months of the new year," wrote the president.

Sees Peace Possible
"The secretary of labor tells me that after careful investigation and prolonged conversations with responsible leaders in both groups there appear to be insurmountable obstacles to peace and that in fact there is a real and honorable desire (Continued On Page Two)

Metropolitan Grand Opera Director Can't Understand Italy Report

REVERSAL OF HIS ATTITUDE IN U. S.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Director General Edward Johnson of the Metropolitan Opera today expressed amazement over Beniamino Gigli's charge that the Metropolitan was falling into decay as an institution of art and declared Gigli's assertions were complete reversal of his avowed sentiments at the time of his departure for Rome.

"The Metropolitan not only is not 'decadent'—definitely—it is vigorous and xirle and Gigli was one of the first to so proclaim it on his last visit," Johnson said.

"I cannot understand the change in his feelings, while here he termed the performances wonderful and paid tribute not only to the physical handling of the artists but the psychological attention—the soothing of their nerves, the quieting of their fears."

Drilling had been in progress steadily since last September, except for several short periods when equipment was changed. When work was stopped a 6,000 foot cable was being used.

Bird Feeder Uses Loaf Of Bread Weekly

(International News Service)

James Ayers, aged five, small son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ayers, 1106 West Washington street, uses one and a half loaves of bread weekly to feed the birds which gather daily on his back porch.

Every morning when "Jimmy" arises and before he partakes of his breakfast, the birds receive their feast. Numbering close to fifty, the feathered friends of the benefactor remain in the yard and clustered on the rear porch of the home until the bread donor arrives with their food.

Birds of several varieties are included in the group and the favorite is a large red bird, who is fed his share first in the early morning ritual.

Prentiss Gilbert Of Berlin Embassy Taken By Death

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—Prentiss B. Gilbert, who as counselor in charge of the United States embassy, has had to handle some of the most difficult problems in the strained relations between America and Germany, died last night.

German-American differences were forgotten in the presence of death today as the Reich foreign office lowered its flag to half-mast.

Dr. Hans Dieckhoff, who was recalled from his embassy post in Washington after Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson was summoned back to the United States, telephoned his condolences to Mrs. Gilbert. Government officials also sent messages of sympathy to the widow, who had just returned from Switzerland, and Mgr. Cesare Orsenigo, papal nuncio, spoke for the diplomatic corps as its dean.

PA NEWS OBSERVES

These are ear lug days. The style that was hot in 1885 is back again this winter and the modern youth has to wear a set of the ear warmers even though he goes without a hat.

In the hollow north of Croton avenue, quite a number of birds have sought shelter all winter, especially among the pines near Woodland avenue. From these places of refuge they sallied forth in the mornings to the back yards and porches, in the neighborhood, for their breakfasts.

Norman Smith says he has lots of "customers." The moment he puts food on the porch, the "sentinel" flies away, and brings back a large number of his bird friends.

Apparently the campaign of last fall hasn't ended for some residents. Pa News saw an auto yesterday that was still carrying a political note: "Davis-James."

A lot of auto drivers who apparently believed that no nickel was needed in the parking meter during the late afternoon, received a surprise. A lot of cars were tagged about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon in the downtown area.

This morning, the coal bin must have been empty at some home. There was a man pushing a wheelbarrow full of coal along West Washington street something unusual. The sight of that coal arriving at the home, would surely be very welcome, on a cold day like this.

See Battle Over Freight Rates

To Launch Fight Before Congress

South And West To Take Offensive In Drive On Rates

EAST WILL MAKE COUNTER-ATTACK

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The greatest section battle in more than 70 years—a peaceful legislative fight over freight rates—today was slated to be launched before the house interstate commerce committee next week.

Industrial interests and political leaders of the south and west will take the offensive.

A vigorous counter-offensive will be launched by the east and middle west.

The stake, according to leaders of the embattled forces, is a possible shift of industry and millions of people from one section of the country to the other through adjustment of railroad freight rates.

Spokesmen for the south and west contend that the freight rate structure of the nation is built up to preserve the supremacy of the great industrial region lying north of the Ohio river, between the Mississippi river, and the Atlantic coast.

for unification of the labor movement among all parties concerned.

In calling upon the two warring labor chiefs to appoint peace committees, the president did not designate any number that should sit.

Challenges Move

Rather, he challenged the two men to make such a move for four reasons:

"First, because it is right.

"Second, because the responsible officers from both groups seem to me ready and capable of making a negotiated peace.

"Third, because your membership ardently desire peace and unity for the better ordering of their responsible life in the trade unions and in their communities.

"Fourth, because the government of the United States and the people of America believe it to be a wise and almost necessary step for the further development of the cooperation between free men in a democratic society such as ours."

Mr. Roosevelt's dramatically staged move to eliminate dissension in the ranks of organized labor was carefully timed, following hard on the speech of Secretary of Commerce Hopkins in Des Moines last night mapping an administration program for industrial revival.

In his letters to Green and Lewis, the president noted that the National Manufacturers association recently expressed a "willingness to work with labor in a realistic effort to improve their mutual relations and to better general working conditions."

and unqualified capitulation of the Spanish government, Franco added the guarantee that only criminals need be afraid in the event of such capitulation.

The communication also affirmed the Insurgents' intention to preserve the integrity of Spanish territory.

Authoritative London circles consider the assurances adequate, although not exactly in the form which London originally hoped for.

Prime Minister Chamberlain is expected to make the issue of recognizing Franco a question of confidence in the house of commons Monday.

He is assured an overwhelming majority, experts predict, just as Premier Daladier received indirectly on the same matter in the French chamber of deputies yesterday.

But to avoid opposition criticism, it is understood that Chamberlain has decided to announce recognition in the house Monday, instead of issuing a formal foreign office statement Sunday.

In addition to Franco's promises regarding reprisals and Spain's sovereignty, Chamberlain probably will tell the house that assurances have been given on the administration of justice and efforts to restore Spain to her former proud position.

Dogs Apparently Not Remorseful

Apparently incorrigible dogs are not as remorseful as pigs and a night in a jail cell means little to them.

Here's the deduction:

Several nights ago policemen placed a runaway pig in a cell. It was found dead in the morning. No doubt it was sorry for running away.

Last night a hound was found in Norwood avenue here and like the porker, it was placed in a jail cell and was all right today.

It is the property of Fred Shaffer, R. D. 5, the license shows according to police.

Although in some political quarters it was believed Hopkins chose his home state for his first important address as an initial maneuver for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940, the secretary made no reference to elections. Those who felt Hopkins' appearance in Iowa had political inferences attributed to him a bid for the Iowa delegation's backing at the Democratic national convention in 1940.

Must Keep Steady

The legislature, Republican-controlled, is expected to abide by the governor's wishes in this respect as it is known that Republican legislative leaders share the governor's belief that the ship of state must not be rocked now.

Their opinion was best expressed by Speaker of the House Ellwood J. Turner, who said: "Pretty generally, the men feel that we shouldn't try to do too much at this session. The feeling pretty generally is that although there are many things enacted by the preceding administration that require changing, we ought to give them a chance under a new administration. We don't think it would be wise now to make too many changes."

reducing taxes are to bear fruition there must be an industrial upsurge which will permit him to do so.

This is not to say that there will be no changes, but they will be largely minor, changes which will not affect the general body of the state and which will be intended solely to aid the governor in carrying out his plans.

The revelation that the governor intends to maintain the status quo was expected to occasion considerable surprise and opposition among those groups which expected that once the Republican party took over everything Democratic would be wiped out with one fell swoop.

FEVER YOUTHFUL CRIMINALS

THE occasional reports of J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, are always interesting and sometimes they are heartening, especially when they show, as they have so often in recent years, that kidnapers are ultimately brought to justice, that this fiendish crime is of less frequent occurrence, and that the nation's supply of important public enemies is about eliminated.

Even more hopefully inspiring is a batch of statistics, made public recently, showing that great progress is being made toward the solution of the problem of juvenile delinquency, the one most dangerous threat to the moral standards of the nation.

Mr. Hoover's report is more than interesting; it is vital. Seven years ago the most marked tendency toward crime was manifested at the age of seventeen. Within four years the age had been moved up to nineteen, while today it is twenty-one.

Not the least significant feature of the report is Mr. Hoover's explanation of the factors that have contributed toward this improvement. Perhaps the most important is the CCC, which has taken boys from the streets and the highways, given them work in a wholesome atmosphere and removed them from the path of temptation.

Since its organization, the CCC has inspired little but praise. It has contributed in incalculable measure to the development and conservation of natural resources; it has brought essential financial aid to thousands of homes. Above all else, however, it has helped to conserve and safeguard the young manhood of the nation.

Other factors in the improvement have been the Y. M. C. A. and many boys' clubs. Their work, through which youngsters are gradually being educated away from crime, is deserving of the highest praise.

DAMAGED PLANES

The people of Pennsylvania will recall the airplane exploits of former Governor Earle and his aides, and no doubt be willing to remember the Earle administration as an air-minded administration.

But the people of the state are just finding out, as a result of an inquiry by a special legislative aviation committee of which David N. Denman, Latrobe, is a member, how much it cost them to have an air-minded administration.

The committee, bent on extending Governor James' economy program, has discovered that the bill for maintaining the State Division of Aeronautics has been running $390,000 per biennium, at the minimum. Cut the staff from 75 to 20 and ground all state planes "until such time as it has been determined just how many and what state planes are needed and by what departments." This is the recommendation the committee has turned over to Elwood Turner, speaker of the House.

It will not be a difficult task to keep the planes grounded, because the committee found that most of the State planes are damaged and in need of repair. Furthermore, it was discovered that one State plane is "in hock" at an airport at Hagerstown, Md., for a repair bill.

The committee learned that there was practically no activity at the Harrisburg airport, except for the operation of the radio beam and tower, and that there were a lot of people on the payroll doing little or nothing. The beam and tower will be kept in operation, but the staff will be cut.—Greensburg Review.

THE FUTURE OF THE RFC

Among all the New Deal emergency agencies the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has an outstanding record of businesslike efficiency. It has achieved this reputation through those transactions that were directly under its own control, as distinguished from supplementary and not always prudent loans which it was compelled to make by order of Congress.

It was in view of this record, doubtless that the House of Representatives extended the lending powers of the RFC to July 1, 1941. This was accomplished by a strict party vote. The opposition of the Republican minority was based on an attempt to curtail the President's authority to order a temporary suspension of any class of loans whenever he deems it advisable. This opposition, which is part of a well defined program to reduce a number of the President's extraordinary powers, might have attracted stronger support from certain Democrats if it had been directed toward some other grants of authority to the Executive.

For without doubt the RFC, under the present set-up, has performed a useful part wherever it has adhered to its original prescribed purpose of lending financial aid to banks, farming, commerce and industry not in competition with private enterprise.

The Senate has still to act. But regardless of the question of the President's special powers, it does not seem wise to terminate the RFC's existence before recovery is placed upon a firm foundation.

MUSIC APPRECIATION BY THE BLIND

Lauritz Melchior merely enunciates an oft-demonstrated but always provocative fact when he points out that blind persons can get more intense enjoyment from opera and other music than those who can see. There is a natural sharpening of the remaining senses when one or more is useless.

Mr. Melchior says he likes to sing to blind persons, and well he may. He finds them perfect listeners, undistracted by what other people in the audience are doing or wearing, and he is sure that they get much out of grand opera which is missed by auditors too much engrossed in spectacular scenery or costumes.

The noted Wagnerian tenor wishes ways could be developed for giving blind opera-goers a better mental picture of what happens on the stage, but that isn't pressing or imperative. Let a blind music-lover master the story beforehand, seat him where he can hear the robust basso or the bell-like coloratura or the welling thunder of the chorus, and he can form an adequate mental picture. The chances are that it is a finer picture than the stage itself offers.

Planning isn't new in America. We've always had a hankering to run our neighbors' business.

Every great man deserves an autobiography and a biography—one to tell his side of the story and one to give the low-down.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

INFANT INHIBITIONS DISCUSSED

Aside from pain, what makes an infant stop a given activity? Let us see.

I recorded a large number of notes on my children from birth to about two years of age. A few of these notes appeared in the Pedagogical Seminary for September, 1922, pp. 288-293.

"Day 1. B. ceased crying immediately after birth when I pressed my palm softly over the top of her head. This repeated several times with like results. J. during the first day ceased crying when face was softly touched or hips patted."

Variety of Sounds

"Day 7. B. stopped nursing when I made a variety of sounds."

"Day 8. J. would stop crying when piano started to play, and begin crying at once when it ceased to play—this for seven successive times. Likewise B. ceased crying when she heard a new sound; but not always at the same sound repeated."

"Day 48. J. ceased nursing as I looked at him with head and facial gestures."

"Day 77. B. will immediately stop nursing to look toward newly turned-on light."

"Day 96. J. stopped nursing suddenly and turned about toward the window when the tower bell above him rang, maintaining that position until the ringing ceased. He would do this invariably up to the 120th day. Likewise he stopped nursing to watch with wide-open eyes his aunt break macaroni into a pan. Here we see how important it is to have no distraction while the infant is taking food."

Fixed Attention

"Day 146. Fixed attention by J. is accompanied by perfect stillness. Noted in B. also about the same time."

"Day 247. J. very suddenly paused and looked around toward the door, in the midst of play, when he heard a familiar round. Like-wise his activity at any time will cease suddenly, to let him turn to watch a hissing steam pipe or running faucet. In all cases where he does not reach for a substitute object, he relaxes grasp very slowly; when reaching for it, however, the relaxation is very quick and easy. Here lies the secret of the substitute in getting an object from a child without resistance."

"Day 307. About to insert a bunch of carnations into his mouth, I called to him, when he dropped the flowers to the floor. B. ceased all play movements on two occasions when music started in the house above us."

As we are going to get anywhere in the building up of character, we must set out with an interest in the positive, desirable activities so that at the critical moments, when the child is about to do the undesirable or is doing it, we can lead him to do, instead, what he ought to do.

According to newspaper reports, 19 members of the University of Florida football squad got in their summer training on WPA jobs. Well, the boys probably deserved a little vacation—they have to work so hard in the fall.

A GIVEAWAY

"I just saw a girl with a glass eye." "How do you know? Did she tell you?" "No, stupid, it came out in the conversation."

PUBLIC RESOURCES

Most visitors to Southern California have traveled the Coast Route, 101 Highway, which runs from San Diego to Vancouver. In traveling this Highway, naturally, they have noticed the oil fields running from Balboa Beach through Huntington Beach, Long Beach, Wilmington and San Pedro clear to Santa Barbara. Many of these oil wells are right on the beach; some of them are out in the ocean, and this tideland oil section has been before the California legislatures over and over again, but the oil pumps work right along.

The situation in Long Beach is such that it is going to be very hard to prevent drilling in the tidelands because of the City of Long Beach, for within the last two years more than two hundred oil wells have been drilled in Long Beach's harbor area and experts estimate that the city's future oil dividends will total at least $50,000,000, all of which is going to enable that city to enjoy a lot of improvements without levying taxes.

MISSING

Some day in middle-March we'll go Back to the course, still edged with snow.

All grateful for the springlike weather

To play that opening round together.

But—and I dread it more and more—

We shall be three instead of four; Three to set out with one another Without our happy-hearted brother.

Or, there's no doubt that day that he

Will many times remembered be, Often that afternoon we'll say:

"Of that the same with him away."

At evening when the round is played

And told about the scores we made Remembering him again we'll say:

"Perhaps he was with us today!"

What's What At A Glance

Borah Criticizes President
Sees No Alarm From Abroad
Others Uphold Roosevelt

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 25.—

When President Roosevelt, cruising out into the Caribbean to watch Uncle Sam's naval maneuvers, let it be known that developments in connection with the foreign situation might call him back to Washington on shorter notice than he had intended, Senator Borah promptly announced that he could not imagine any foreign developments of a nature to hasten the presidential return "by a single hour."

That there might be developments of capital importance to overseas countries the senator didn't dispute, but if so, he said, they couldn't conceivably be any of our business.

The subject is one on which the Idaho senator speaks with a great deal of authority. He not only is an outstanding solon, with perhaps more personal influence (despite the fact that his party, if he can be considered to belong to one, is in a minority) than any other single individual in congress; he also is a specialist on America's overseas relationships. For a long time he was chairman of the senatorial foreign affairs committee, and all hands recognized him as a very able one. He is not chairman now; Senator Pittman is because his Democratic side is in a majority at present.

However, Senator Borah remains as senior minority committeeman. And in point of service on the committee he is half a dozen years Pittman's senior. He also is listened to at least as respectfully as the Nevada lawmaker is; possibly more so.

NEVERTHELESS AND NOTWITHSTANDING

Nevertheless, it seems to me. Senator Borah to the contrary notwithstanding, that things are popping in Europe and Asia of sufficient world peril, proportions and imminence to cause the president to believe he may need to be actually on the job rather than at the opposite end of some radio communication line.

Senator Borah implies the position that the president wants to be here in order to get INTO whatever complication arises. I think it would be a fair guess that he wants to report present to keep OUT of trouble.

The truth is that the executive mansion has been considerably too mysterious lately—needlessly, and, indeed, bunglingly so.

For example, we have had some airplane dickers with France, which the administration indorsed. They were quite all right—legal and according to Hoyle in every respect. But they appear to have been hushed up. Maybe that was not the intention. Probably the administration believed that what it was encouraging was all o.k., requiring no publicity. But it didn't need to hush-hush it either—giving an impression that it was something clandestine.

In brief, the administration is "smarty."

What it is doing appears to be all right, but it does it in a fashion to arouse suspicions.

CONFLICTING STORIES

For one thing, departmental testimonies conflict.

The state department ought to be the essential source of information concerning Uncle Sam's foreign relationships.

Instead it has had hardly a word to say relative to them. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has been the chief witness before congressional committees. War department officials have testified that no military secrets have been disclosed to foreign investigators except (oh yes!) SOME have been disclosed. Ditto navy departmental officials.

ON THE LEVEL

If the public had been told, on the level, what is going on, undoubtedly there would not be so much confusion.

The trouble is that the administration does not think the public has sense enough to be trusted with much information.

So let the president COME back from the Caribbean.

It will not do any good, I'd surmise. But it will not do any damage.

The Great Game Of Politics

The "Just Spend" Period

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.

SO far from being reassured by the recent statement of the President that business need not fear the imposition of new taxes nor the increase of old ones this year, there seems every reason why business should be alarmed thereby.

BECAUSE, if that isn't taking the straight road to complete and calamitous national insolvency then nothing makes sense and all the things which businessmen have been saying for the past six years are ridiculous. Here is a country which in that period has increased its debt twenty billions of dollars and for nine successive years has been running steadily increasing deficits. Beginning in 1932, the President himself gravely warned that the end of this could only be disaster and insisted upon the vital necessity of balancing the budget.

WHILE the budget has gotten farther out of balance every year, until 1939 he regularly stressed the necessity for balance, consistently promised to balance, always maintained that the effort to balance was vital.

In his message to Congress last January, for the first time Mr. Roosevelt abandoned this position for even the pretense of it. Instead he accepted completely the weird theory of Mr. Mariner Eccles that there is no need to bother about the budget; that the budget will balance itself automatically as soon as the national income reaches a certain figure; that the way to reach Federal money, that the one fatal thing now would be retrenchment.

IN BRIEF, the President, urging expenditures this year which with his armament program, will exceed ten billions of dollars and leave a deficit of more than three billions, first tells Congress that economy at this time would be a mistake, dares it to reduce appropriations and angrily throws back at it another request for the $150,000,000 lopped off the relief appropriation. Then he tells businessmen he contemplates no increased taxes, through his earnest young Under Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Hanes, has been laboring day and night for weeks on a Treasury bill which increases taxes on estates and individuals more than a little

Special Features To Mark Some Church Programs Tomorrow

Adult Day Is Next In Drive

Sunday Is Second Date In "Four Star" Sunday School Contest

CAMPAIGN SHOWS MANY BENEFITS

Tomorrow, Sunday February 26th, will be "Adult Day" in the "Four Star" campaign being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, and the sixty Sunday Schools participating will strive to increase in Evangelism, Sunday School Attendance, Church Attendance and Bible study. Last Sunday, which was the start of the campaign, a number of Sunday schools received stars and these will continue to grow and increase until Easter Sunday which will climax this co-operative effort.

While a general plan has been given, goals, publicity and awards have been arranged for—still every Sunday School taking part is urged to use its own initiative and ingenuity to devise ways and means to reach these goals. There should be a certain amount of competition within each Sunday school and this can best be brought out by appointing committees and making individual plans. One of the Sunday schools participating has the entire Sunday school membership divided into three colors, purple, white and gold and the goal is to see which color has the best attendance every Sunday.

The beneficial results from the increase campaign sponsored by the county association can best be shown by the increase in average attendance for the year 1938 as compared with the average attendance for 1937. In the first group, New Castle, the Third U. P. was 45 members higher, the First M. E. 31, the Highland U. P. 13 and the First Baptist 12. The second group, New Castle, the Second U. P. gained 30, the First U. P. 9 and the Central Christian 1. The third group, New Castle, the Mahoning M. E. gained 30, the St. Paul's Lutheran 23, the Maitland Memorial Primitive Methodist 11 and the Wesley M. E. 9. The fourth group, New Castle, the Mahoningtown Presbyterian gained 11, the St. John's Lutheran 10 and the Madison Avenue Christian 4.

The Ellwood City Group: The First U. P. 58 gain, the First M. E. 54, the Trinity Lutheran 40, the First Christian 20, the First Presbyterian 15, the Immanuel Reformed 15 and the Bell Memorial Presbyterian 11.

When you consider that each of these figures must be multiplied by 52 in order to get the total attendance for the year 1938 over the year 1937, then these figures are very encouraging as it shows that the Sunday School trend in Lawrence County is at least slightly on the upgrade. Then too, it must be remembered, that while the above Sunday Schools were gaining, quite a number of others were registering slight losses, so the annual census that will be taken in the near future will probably show only a small increase.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

PARENTS MUST REMEMBER PNEUMONIA IS ALMOST ENTIRELY PREVENTABLE

The formation of pus in the pleural cavity as a complication of pneumonia in children is something that, to me, has always seemed to run in series.

This was first pointed out to me by my father many years ago. He was a country doctor, too, and once when I was home from university, he invited me out to see a patient who had developed this trouble which, if we want to be scientific, we call empyema. I helped him remove the fluid from the chest and as we were leaving he remarked that he expected a few other cases now, since when one came along there were usually others to follow.

Another thing I have noticed is that a neglected case of empyema, even though the patient recovered from it, was too often followed by tuberculosis for there not to be some connection. I may be wrong, but it is my opinion that the germs of tuberculosis have something to do with the development of empyema. In fact, we always look for tuberculosis, or consumption in the common term.

I think perhaps we doctors in the more remote parts of the country see more neglected cases of empyema than do those in sections where it is easier to get around. I know that many, many times a father has driven thirty or forty miles over the worst kind of roads to tell me that his baby is sick, that its breathing is difficult, that its chest is swollen. Right away I suspect that there has been pneumonia followed up by empyema.

I have gone out with him to his home, taken the infant out into the kitchen and made an opening into the chest with a knife. I remember seeing cases where the pressure of this pus was so great that when the opening was made it would spurt half way across the room.

Of course these are neglected cases, and when you find them, you usually find a heart condition as well. You also have a child who will have pus draining through a tube in his side for sometimes three or four months before it is cleared up. One has always to be so careful of other infections developing at the same time.

We have discussed two complications which may add to the dangers of pneumonia in children. These are infection being carried to other parts of the body through the blood stream, and empyema. There are other complications of this disease, too, but they affect adults and are not important so far as babies or young children are concerned.

In closing, let me repeat that the disease is almost entirely preventable. The old theory that pneumonia was caused by exposure is correct only to a very limited degree. Of course, exposure may and no doubt will help to some degree, but the germs of pneumonia must be present before the disease will develop, even after there has been exposure.

So the most important step in the curbing of pneumonia and cutting down the death toll it leaves in its wake, is not to develop a serum or a drug which can combat it. I know this end is extremely desirable, but so far as children are concerned, a much greater advance will be made when we can convince every mother that her baby must not be allowed to come into contact with anyone who has the slightest headache or cough.

Your Federal Income Tax

No. 22 DEDUCTION FOR CONTRIBUTIONS

Charitable contributions and gifts made by an individual are deductible within limitations provided by the Revenue Act. The organization to which the gift is made must meet several tests. The corporation, trust, community chest, fund or foundation must be a domestic organization and must be organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals; and if a substantial part of its activities is carrying on propaganda or otherwise attempting to influence legislation, it fails to pass the tests. No part of the organization's income may inure to the benefit of any private stockholder or individual.

Contributions made to a missionary fund, church building fund, or for the benefit of other activities of the church are deductible if the church is a domestic organization. Pew rents, assessments and dues paid to churches are regarded as contributions. Gifts to a domestic corporation or domestic association organized or devoted to the advancement of learning are deductible.

Gifts to an individual are not deductible, but if made to a domestic charitable organization, as defined by the Revenue Act, may be deducted even though the organization distributes funds among the individual beneficiaries.

Contributions made to the United States, any State or Territory or political subdivision thereof, such as a city or town or the District of Columbia, for exclusively public purposes are deductible; for example, a gift of real estate to a city to be used perpetually as a public park is deductible. Also allowable are contributions to the special fund for vocational rehabilitation, to posts or organizations of war veterans and their auxiliaries in the United States, and to domestic fraternal societies, orders, or associations operating under the lodge system, if used for religious, scientific, educational, literary or charitable purposes.

In general, the deduction is limited to 15 per cent of the net income, exclusive of the contributions. Corporate contributions are deductible when made to or for the use of a domestic corporation, domestic trust, or domestic community chest, fund or foundation which meets the same tests as those made for recipients of individual contributions, but in the case of contributions or gifts to a trust, chest, fund, or foundation, only if the contributions or gifts are to be used within the United States. Deduction of corporate contributions is limited to 5 per cent of the net income, exclusive of the contributions.

C.; Wofford college, Spartanburg, S. C.; Presbyterian college, Clinton, S. C.; and Coker college, Hartselle, S. C., before returning to the college March 14.

Last summer Professor Brennan studied in the University of Paris, France, on a special arts fellowship.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Some garret inventor may make a fortune with a Maxim silencer for dogs. The sizeable industrial town of Kearney, N. J., is dusting off its blue laws, preparing to put teeth in them and enforce them, and under these ancient statutes, it's the calaboose for the owner of any dog who barks after 9 o'clock at night. In the doghouse, too, will be any exuberant citizen who turns a hand-spring, or leaps over his garden hedge, as "feats of uncommon dexterity or agility of body," are forbidden. "to prevent riots and suppress vice." Punishment for such unseemly doings runs up to ninety days in jail or a fine of $200.

It is understandable that political orators no longer ask "whether we are drifting?" Only heaven, or perhaps Roger Babson, may have the slightest idea. One notes in Kearney, and in other towns, a return to kill-joy legislation, grimly enforced. The blue nose again is abroad in the land.

But you may write a ticket on that and discover that you are all wrong. Vermont came pretty nearly inventing blue laws. It is the native heath of the "gloomy Sunday," as that macabre Hungarian song had it, but just now they are tossing all these hangnail laws into the ash can. The Vermont legislature passes a law granting communities the right to write their own laws on Sunday baseball, amusements, sumptuary legislation and all public behaviour in the range of these old taboos. Indications are, from all reports, that they will make a quick clean-up and one may have a good time up in the green mountains without risking jail.

A sagacious Englishman, over here two or three years ago, made the following distinction between England and America:

"In England, you can say anything you want to, but you mustn't do it. In America, you can do anything you want to, but you mustn't say it."

This shrewd observation, I believe, lights up much of the historic picture of law enforcement, or lack of it, in this country. Our custom has been to ignore blue laws rather than to take them off the books. Several years ago, a law-abiding citizen of Boston kept account of his infractions of law for one day in his normal transaction of business, and in his movements around the town. He had offended against 29 ancient statutes and rated about three years in jail, if the laws had been enforced.

Obviously, when there is a widening gap between laws and their application, one of two things may be done. The laws may be enforced, or they may be scrapped. Days of social tension such as these logically may urge Kearney, N. J., one way and Vermont the other. America is so big and so diverse that it is never safe to make a bet on which way it is going.

The late Clarence Darrow, a shrewd old railroad, clocking public trends, went away wrong on this. At the peak of the prohibition years, he was ready to bet his shirt that the Volstead Act never would be taken off the books. He cited our long history of ignoring rather than repealing obnoxious laws, and predicted that the eighteenth amendment would ride along to the crack of doom, with everybody paying less and less attention to it.

Any blue law sticks tighter than a cockle-burr and about the only thing that ever jars it loose is the impact of some newly realized dollars-and-cents reality. It was so with the prohibition law. Liquor revenue was going to put the government in the black. The brewing and distilling industries were to yield new employment and dividends. There was an irresistible economic drive behind repeal. And so there is not only in Vermont, but in other sections of New England where they are loosening up on the blue laws.

New England is a magnificent resort country. The blue laws cramp their style and nick their pocket-books, and so they are passing. Kearney, N. J., isn't a resort town and there is no particular percentage in a good time for the populace. But they do feel increasing social tension, an increasing threat of disorder and they reach for any law at hand to enforce discipline.

This department isn't downhearted about such varied tendencies and urges in our national life, foolish as some of them may be. The lot of us wouldn't stand for a blue nose Puer and we wouldn't stand for the opposite. We may be a "house divided," but it's harder for a boss to ramrod that kind of a house.

Graham Against Guam Proposal

Local Congressman Votes
Against $5,000,000 Naval Base Appropriation

By ARTHUR C. WIMER

(Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 25.—Representative Louis Graham of Beaver voted this week with the successful coalition of House Republicans and Democrats which struck from the naval armament bill $5,000,000 for an air base on Guam Island.

President Roosevelt desired the appropriation and administration leaders strove vainly to have the $5,000,000 kept in the bill. It was thrown out by a 205 to 168 ballot, however, when scores of Democrats bolted their leaders. Representative Graham voted to strike out the fund.

This setback represented the most severe drubbing handed administration forces by the house this session.

NEW WILMINGTON DEFEATS APOLLO BY 39-23 MARGIN

"Greyhounds" Enter Quarter-Finals Of Class B In W. P. I. A. L. Eliminations

MINNER STARS FOR SECTION 20 CHAMPS

Functioning like a Swiss chronometer following a ragged start, New Wilmington high school "Greyhounds," champions of Section 20, made their debut in the 1939 class B W. P. I. A. L. tournament by defeating Apollo high's Tigers, crown holders of Section 21, Friday night on the spacious Pitt stadium floor.

The final score was 39-23. Making their initial appearance in the colorful tournament, the college towners were lost on the huge floor for at least several minutes. After becoming acclimated to the atmosphere, the Lawrence countians put on a show that won the plaudits of the throng. The Apollos took the lead, 2-0, when Steele jumped in a fielder from under the rim. The Greyhounds took at least a dozen shots before they were able to score. Grabbing a sweet pass from Captain Jack Mercer, Shaffer flipped in the initial two-master from under. Paul "Lefty" Minner, the 15-year-old star who wound up being the most colorful performer of the night, zipped the spheroid to Mercer, who took a step under the mesh and tallied. In a tussle under the Wilmington hoop, Mercer tipped in a two-plier to give the locals a 6-4 edge as the period ended.

The fast moving college towners finally found their bearings in the second period. Paced by the accurate left hand of Minner, New Wilmington annexed 12 markers. Minner found the cords three times, twice on his clever spin around play, besides giving a sparkling display of ball handling. Mercer countered with one from the side. Newton came right back with a nice side shot and Shaffer dumped one from the center of the hardwood. Gibson chalked up a pair of two-masters for the Apollos and Grim registered a foul. At intermission time New Wilmington sported an 18-9 margin.

Minner again led the way for the Section 20 champs in the third stanza, contributing three more field goals and a foul. Shaffer marked up a double decker and an Annie Oakley while Newton accounted for his second two-plier. Steele grabbed all four of Apollo's scores with a pair of long shots. New Wilmington was out front 30-13 as the third period gun sounded. With victory assured, the New Wilmingtoners took things easy in the early stages of the final period. Minner chalked up his seventh and eighth field goals while Shaffer dribbled along the floor and flipped in a one-handed number and was fouled as he shot. He made good the charity heave as the Greyhounds led, 37-16. Mercer grabbed a pass from Minner and converted from the side to complete New Wilmington's scoring for the night. Stanko, Beamer and Steele accounted for all of Apollo's scores.

Minner Stars Minner, who has been a standout all season, continued his flashy performance, ringing in eight field goals and a foul for 17 points. Besides being high man, the 6 feet 3 cager did exceptionally well in the other phases of the game. Captain Jack Mercer was one of the cleverest players on the hardwood. Shaffer and Newton were in the thick of the battle, their passing standing out. Steele was the big gun for Apollo, dropping four field goals.

New Wilmington enters the quarter finals, meeting the winner of the Redstone-West Newton tussle next Thursday night on the Pitt floor.

Butler Wins Butler high's "team of destiny" put on another belated rally to topple Har-Brack, 25-24, in the class A tourney. The Section 3 team trailed by 10 points at one instance. Coach Siljander's team kept pecking away at the margin and finally deadlocked the count. With 15 seconds remaining, Rocco Iannotti stepped to the charity line and converted.

Change Site Of Hockey Battles

Due to the fact that there are two basketball games at the Arena floor on Sunday afternoon, the scheduled roller hockey matches between the Arena team and Ellwood City, and the Shamrocks and Dragons will be played at the Neshamink rink. The first game will start at 2 o'clock.

The Arena and Shamrock teams are combining, forces for the games Sunday owing to the fact that Dick Fisher, manager of the Arena team, is in the hospital, undergoing an operation. The two teams will be coached by Mr. Hammill. The two teams will be known as the Shamrocks during the game.

CASTLETONS WIN GAME The Castleton hotel basketball team handed the Spring A. C. a 32 to 21 defeat at the K. Pulaski floor, with Paul McCormick the scoring star, along with Soho.

No Seniors On This Season's Titan Squad

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Local sport shots—With basketball out of the way, New Castle high athletes are looking forward to the track and golf season, which which wind up the Hurricane sports program for the 1938-39 school term. The big cinder-path event is the annual W. P. I. A. L. affair. "Pat" Patterson, one of the cleverest cagers turned out at New Wilmington, who also wore a Westminister uniform during his college days, is still at it. The Union high mentor manages to get in a few licks after the cage campaign closes for his team. He's tied up with a New Wilmington outfit which will compete in the coming tournament. Patterson still has plenty of polish.

Within a week, Fred Shaffer, hurler for the Louisville Colonels, will start his southward jaunt to prepare for the coming American Association campaign. The local blonde sandlotter is in great physical condition, thanks to the local Y. M. C. A. a number of hunting trips and a bit of ice skating. "Jewie" Coen, a slicker way back when, and easily one of the most informed baseball men in the county, has been tutoring the former Volant flash. Coen knows baseball from A to Z. They still tell the one about "Jewie" pitching against the Pittsburgh Pirates one day. The local game warden tamed the major leaguers with a piece of sandpaper and a "spit ball".

Skipping "round the sports world"—Budge and Vines are doing all right with a pair of racquets. Since they started barnstorming, they have grossed about $175,000. Vines gets about 20 per cent, while Budge's take is about 37 per cent. A peer into the record of Jack Sutherland's gridiron teams in 15 years reveals that Panther teams have won 110 tussles, lost 21 contests and have been deadlocked in 12 frays, giving the genial Scot a percentage of 840. . . . Who said there are few Irish fighters today? How's about Billy Conn, who handled Fred Apostoli? And Patrick Edward Comiskey, the lad with a long string of "kayoes"? George Lyons must have something? Joe Smith, Tommy Loughran's old pilot, has picked up the Irish.

Nothing but baseball—Happy returns to Honus Wagner, who became eligible for his social security check yesterday. Although few persons know it, the bow-legged grey-haired old-timer was discovered by Ed (Yankess) Barrow. "Dazzy" Vance, former ace chucker of the then not so Dafty Dodgers, who has been felled by pneumonia, is visited daily by Judge Landis, in Florida. . . . Schumacher of the Giants tips the beams at 200, the most he has ever scaled. Billy Terry will likely map out a special program for the chunky pitcher, since he dislikes "fatties".

Extra! Extra! The Dodgers are in first—first to undergo calisthenic drills. The Dads have been split into two classes and work out daily, despite the fact that the spring training season is still several days off.

Odds and ends—Although basketball will not be a regular part of the 1940 Olympics, the organizing committee plans exhibitions which will be limited to players not more than 6 feet 11 inches in height. In Berlin, the American team averaged 6 feet 4 inches and when they played Japan's five footers, the little brown men seldom got a chance to get the ball. . . . The P. G. A. will soon start a campaign to instruct golfers on the rules of the game. . . . Not a single football player may be found on the Pittsburgh, Carnegie Tech or Duquesne basketball teams.

World records in danger when stars compete at National A. A. U. track and field championships at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The Fannins basketball team won from the Lincoln Zephyrs last night at the Lincoln-Garfield court by the score of 40 to 14, with Vince Kelley, Ray Kelley and Maciarello the scoring stars of the game. Best for the losers was Scungio and Phillips.

County League Meets March 1

Hope To Have Eight Teams In Lawrence Loop This Year

HOPE TO ENTER SEMI-PRO MEET

Managers and sponsors of baseball teams in the Lawrence county loop will meet at 7:30 p. m. March 1 in the Sport Goods store, according to Secretary James Martin. It is hoped to organize an eight-team loop this season. A further hope is that the first half winner will be entered in the Lawrence county entrant in the Pennsylvania semi-pro tournament to be held in Pittsburgh.

The teams which were in the loop last year were Bessemer, the flag winners; Wampum, Hillsville and South Hills. It is also reported that Ellwood City, winner of the Beaver county title in 1938, will enter the Lawrence county organization.

The league was able last season through the efforts of Ed Fritz, commissioner for the circuit and sports editor of The News, in getting a try-out for several of the county league players in faster company. Two of the Bessemer boys, Hrivatine and Hardesty, will report to the Butler team which is a farm for the New York Yankees.

Boosters Play New Kensington

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The stock market ran up 1 to more than 2 points today in a further response to the growing evidence of a more conciliatory government attitude toward business.

Steels, motors, building shares, rails and chemicals were the strongest groups. Included in the large opening blocks were sales of 5,000 shares in Chrysler, 4,500 in Bethlehem, 4,000 in U. S. Steel and 3,000 in N. Y. Central.

Westinghouse Electric, U. S. Gypsum, Allied Chemical, Bethlehem and American Can were among the stocks to show extreme gains of over two points.

Farm implements were backward.

The Dutch guilders slumped further into new low ground, breaking into 53 1/2 cents.

Immigrants were buoyant. Cotton recovered 25 cents a bale, as recovered early fractional ones.

P. & L. E. Will Re-locate Depot

Public Square Office To Be Moved Back To West
Side Site

MOTOR COACH WILL SERVE FROM THERE

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad will move its downtown ticket depot from the public square to the old West Washington street passenger station, now the Erie railroad freight terminal, on April 1, it was announced today by Brook N. Edmonston, the company's district passenger agent in Pittsburgh.

Edmonston said the present motor coach service to and from the seventh ward depot of the line will continue as before.

Traffic operations in the public square section which at times delay the connecting bus for some time, were given as one of the reasons for the return of the ticket office to the building it formerly occupied.

It was explained by Milton A. Bickett, local ticket-freight agent, that schedule improvements may be possible with the coach operating from the West Side location.

The building, at West Washington and Shenango streets will be completely remodeled to house both the P. & L. E. passenger office and the Erie's freight office.

The present depot site, in the Y. W. C. A. building, was taken over in 1933.

Former Local Man Aids Fire Fighters

Assists Firemen In Putting Out
Disastrous Blaze In Pasadena, Calif.

Perry McFarland, Central fireman today received a copy of a Pasadena, Calif., paper showing pictures of a disastrous blaze, which razed a section of the city on February 18, when high winds fanned a fire in the section of the city where a number of automobile garages were located. Prominent in the picture is Vincent Gardner, former well known lieutenant of fire police here, who went to California last year.

When the fire truck on which Gardner was riding was on its way back to the station after fighting the big blaze, they came upon a home which was afire, and Gardner is pictured dragging hose to help put out this blaze, too.

Several speakers will be heard.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will banquet in the Green room of the Y. W. C. A. Monday evening, February 27 at 6:30 o'clock.

At the dinner the formal reward will be presented by Gust Sanfilippo's "Capitalists" to C. Edson Rum-mell's "Industrialists"—the "Industrialists" won a recent attendance contest.

Following the plan of other bar associations, the Bar Association of Mahoning county will hold an institute in Wick Auditorium, March 3 and 4 at which a number of New Castle lawyers will attend.

Three nationally known law professors will address the institute. Edson R. Sunderland who will speak on "Discovery and Summary Judgment Under the New Supreme Court Rules". E. Blythe Stason whose subject will be "Problems of Procedure Before Administrative Tribunals" and Ralph W. Aigler whose subject will be "Legal Relations Between Banker and Customer."

A radio man calls his quiz a test of intelligence. What's intelligent about knowing who sang a song in what show in 1920?

Whether we are ten or 70 all of us like fantasy, a touch of the world of make believe, a little time when we withdraw from the work-a-day world and walk along the paths of Never-Never land.

Rimsky-Korski, the eminent Russian composer has written a delightful fantasy, "The Bumble Bee Prince" which originally written for children has attracted adults no less than the youngsters. Satisfied that it was the type of entertainment that would be well received here the Lawrence county chapter of the Parent-Teachers Association will present the "Prince" in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school auditorium on Tuesday afternoon and evening February 28th.

Heading the cast of the play is Tom Williams, former New Castle baritone who scored such a success last year in "Hansel and Gretel". With him is his wife, Marion Selee, who has appeared in opera both in the United States and abroad. With them is Miss Esther Lundell who does all the accompaniments.

The play will be presented in the afternoon for children and in the evening for adults and children with their parents. The fact that a New Castle man heads the cast should be sufficient attraction in itself to insure a crowd but the play is the big reason why it should draw crowded houses at both performances.

Five towns and cities of this district sent delegations to New Castle last night for a combined quarterly program of Victory Lodge, L. O. No. 14, district 14, and Abraham Lincoln Lodge, L. O. No. 44, in the Modern Woodmen's hall on East Washington street.

Groups came from Rochester, Beaver, Beaver Falls, Butler, Ellwood City and other cities in the Pittsburgh section.

Elected to office for district 13 were William Drake, New Brighton, district worthy master; John Fulmer, New Castle, district deputy master; R. E. Callahan, Ellwood City, district secretary; W. S. Cox, Ellwood City, district treasurer; P. D. Buquo, Ellwood City, district chaplain; Carl Stevens, Ellwood City, and John Ames, Beaver Falls, directors of ceremonies; J. H. Gross, New Castle, foreman of committees, and Everett Watson, New Brighton, representative to the state grand lodge which meets in Pittsburgh in August.

Plans For State Prison At Mt.
Gretna Scored As Far
Too Expensive

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—High construction cost of the M. Gretna state prison project in Pennsylvania was criticized sharply Friday by U. S. prison director James V. Bennett.

Addressing the Philadelphia citizens committee for a house of detention, Bennett said he is "dismayed" over the construction costs that will approximate nearly $6,000 per inmate.

Bennett also advocated segregation of prisoners held pending trial from those who are serving sentences.

"You are erecting here in Pennsylvania, much to my dismay, an institution, the construction costs of which will approximate nearly $6,000 an inmate," he said. "Now that institution is far too expensive by any standard. Most jails which have only one type of housing usually cost in the neighborhood of $4,000 an inmate."

"If, however, a diversified system of housing for the untried prisoner is provided, it can be secured, our experience shows, for about $2,500 an inmate. At this figure you can provide strong cells for the desperate and serious offender and graduated housing facilities for the others."
